
DPSCD students attend workshop with renowned fashion designer Tracy Reese

1 message

Rachel Talaska <rachel.talaska@detroitk12.org>
To: Rachel Talaska <rachel.talaska@detroitk12.org>

Mon, Mar 25, 2019 at 1:31 PM

Rachel Talaska
Rachel.talaska@detroitk12.org
C: 313-683-3182

DPSCD students attend workshop with renowned fashion designer Tracy Reese*Student designs will be selected to be displayed in Detroit is the New Black store*

WHO: DPSCD students, DPSCD Parents, DPSCD administrators

WHAT: More than 100 students will participate in an Inspirational Workshop instructed by Fashion Designer Tracy Reese, in which students will be instructed/guided by Ms. Reese in an arts creation process regarding designs for printed textiles.

Reese, a Cass Tech graduate, discovered her passion for clothing design while growing up in Detroit. She is now a professional designer and will facilitate a workshop in her home city for students who are interested in fashion design. This workshop will empower DPSCD students to own their creativity and to see themselves in a profession that is not often promoted as a career option in our city.

From this workshop, three pieces will be chosen for display in the Detroit is the New Black store and used in promotion for an exclusive Designed in Detroit capsule.

Each session will host 30 students ranging from grades 3-5, and grade 8.

WHEN:

Tuesday, March 26

1 p.m. – Session 1, Grades 3-5

2 p.m. – Session 2, Grade 8

WHERE:

Duke Ellington School of Music and Art
9860 Park Drive, Detroit, MI 48213

-

###

Rachel Talaska

Project Manager

Detroit Public Schools Community District
Office of Communications and Marketing
Fisher Building